Observed: the voiceover and the subtitle state that Yongle overthrew his nephew in 1492. But the text in Section 1 give his "dates" as 1402 to 1424.

Expected: Yongle actually overthrew his nephew in 1402, not in 1492. The video should be corrected. The dates correspond to the reign of the emperor, which should be more explicit in the text of Section 1, e.g. giving the dates as "Reign" instead of just "Dates".

Yongle Emperor overthrew his nephew in 1402, not in 1492

In 1402, he successfully overthrew his nephew and occupied the imperial capital, Nanjing, after which he was proclaimed Emperor and adopted the era name Yongle, which means "perpetual happiness".
